7	7	7	7	7	Speaking very clearly and concisely, did a great job of explaining the data set and what the graphs are showing. I like the ideas she had on how to better represent the data. Great eye contact with the audience.	I don't have much critique, but if there's something I had to nit pick, there were some large paragraphs that are fine for a report, but maybe too long for a presentation? Maybe you could do some slight changes like a bullet point list for conclusions?
